A RAILROAD'S WORK

The Seaboard Air Line Helping Thousands of Deserving People and at the Same Time Building Up Its Financial Interests

The following article appeared in the Washington Times of May 20th. It refers to a work that is being fostered and promoted by the Seaboard Air Line Railway's Industrial Department. The plan is to assist invalid mechanics who live in the cold sections of the North and West to come South and establish a business that will insure them a living. There are a great many skilled mechanics whose wives and children are slowly dying from consumption that can be brought South and placed into positions where they will not only earn money to support their families, but where they will develop a manufacturing business of some kind that will benefit the South and especially the Railroad Company that is promoting this worthy and practical enterprise. Years ago the Seaboard Air Line encouraged and fostered the starting of a health resort at Southern Pines, N. C., for the accommodation of invalids from the North. It has attracted thousands and thousands of people and many persons have erected homes for winter, and one New Englander, James W. Tufts, purchased five thousand acres of ground and built hotels, comfortable cottages that are rented at a nominal rental to persons from the North who desire the best of accommodation, but can not afford to pay fancy prices.

The American Invalids' Aid Society of Boston and the National Order of King's Daughters are very much interested in this last work of the Seaboard Air Line, and persons bearing letters from either organization will be able to secure work room and power in the "Bee Hive Factory" at Pinebluff, on the Seaboard Air Line, free of cost.—Southern Messenger.

The Washington Times of May 20th, says:

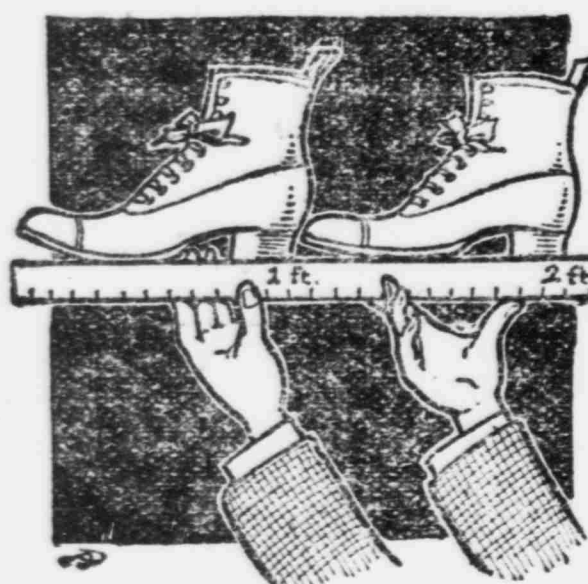

A philanthropic project on a practical basis is about to be put in operation at Pinebluff, N. C. The institution is founded upon the right of every man to earn his own living, and the necessity that exists of giving to persons weakened by diseases some employment that will enable them to earn their livelihood.

A Bee Hive at Pinebluff

The institution is called the Bee Hive and before the summer is very far advanced it will be filled with workers, who are helping themselves and are at least keeping themselves employed. The building will be a factory and a sanitarium at the same time. At the head of the enterprise is J. T. Patrick, industrial agent of the Seaboard Air Line, a man of such character and force that a story about him alone would be interesting. The undertaking is founded on his love for mankind and the railroad is giving him a good deal in order to put upon a sound basis this bee hive in which sick people can work to the best advantage at their chosen trade.

Pinebluff is situated in the very heart of the pine woods of North Carolina and in the section of country which has been found most beneficial to all persons suffering from lung diseases. It stands among rather high mountains, upon a sandy soil that is the most healthy possible. The climate is balmy and equable and so mild that outdoor work is possible nearly all the year around. The conditions are favorable to fruit growing, which was at first the main industry undertaken by the colonists who have been forced by dread consumption or other pulmonary troubles, into the

ACRES OF ASHES IN DEMAND

"Acres of Ashes," Judge Benjamin Harrison's illustrated book on the great Jacksonville fire, is the best selling book ever placed on the market in the South. It has been out only a few days, and the publishers are running day and night to supply the demand. It is estimated that the edition will run to one hundred thousand copies. There will be a big sale on the book in this city, and we understand it will be vigorously pushed by the book stores and news dealers. It is an excellent history of that terrible disaster, and is especially valuable as a souvenir. Begin reading it, and you will never stop until you finish it. It rivets attention. O what pictures of destruction and suffering! What scenes of horror! This book sells for 25 cents, and is marvelously popular. For sale by W. M. Martin and the Ocala News Co.

THE FIRE YESTERDAY

The fire department was called out to the fourth ward yesterday to put out a fire in a cottage owned by Mr. Carmichael. The damage was slight and the boys soon had the fire out.

Boys Who Are Away at school should have a sure remedy for sudden attacks of cramps, diarrhoea or dysentery, and an hour's delay in cases of this kind often leads to serious results. Parents should supply their sons with Pain-Killer, which is simple, safe and sure. One dose rarely fails to bring relief from any bowel complaint. There is but one Pain-Killer, Perry Davis'. Price 25c. and 50c.

EVACUATED HIS FORTRESS

The Gallant Colonel Proskey Succumbs to Superior Numbers

Col. Winfield Scott Proskey, of Ocala, has evacuated his fortress in the half demolished Cumberland apartments, at Fifth avenue, Broad and Twenty-second streets, New York, on which he held a lease until October, and had secured an injunction to prevent dispossession by those rebuilding the structure. "It was after a most amicable settlement of all our difficulties," he is quoted as saying.

Former Judge Samuel P. McConnell, counsel for the concern that has the contract for the new building, explained: "I discovered that the Colonel was in the bankruptcy courts and had failed to list the lease with his assets. Judge Brown, in the United States district court, ordered Colonel Proskey to deliver the lease to his trustee in bankruptcy. On his failure to comply, an order had been issued for him to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt. There was no chance for further argument. We paid the Colonel's trustee in bankruptcy $100 for that lease."

Colonel Proskey, whom all Ocala knows and admires, is now domiciled at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.
